PROF. YOUNG'S CHAMBER.

State Superintendent Young is sick and confined to his bed in his office. The Enterprise of yesterday contains the following:

"The Legislature should not adjourn before doing something for the relief of Professor Young, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. This gentleman is so ill at the present time that he has been obliged to take to his bed and place himself under the care of a physician. His meager salary ($2,400 a year), it is evident, will not enable him to provide himself with private apartments in Carson where he can be nursed in seclusion and with comfort; for he has converted his office in the Capitol, which is also used as a State Museum, into a sick chamber, where his prostrate form lies stripped and stretched upon a hospital cot. Professor Young, as a sick man, will naturally excite the sympathies of his friends as well as their hopes for his speedy convalescence, but his violation of the proprieties in making a public exhibition of himself as a patient will be also likely to engender disgust."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Governor Stoneman of California has transmitted a message to the California Legislature, inclosing a letter from Gov. Adams of Nevada, with which he presented a joint resolution passed by the Legislature of Nevada, with reference to flogging the Truckee river by sawdust and other debris, and asking legislation on the subject.

Another Accident on the Southern Pacific—A Freight Train Wrecked—One Man Killed and Another Badly Injured.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.
The passenger train which left San Francisco yesterday morning reached this city this evening at 6:30, eleven hours late, and brings news of an extensive railroad accident four miles south of Sumner. It appears that a freight coming south at Sumner learned that the passenger train was an hour late and attempted to make a side track five miles this side of the above named station, and was running very fast when the engines flew the track, which was covered several inches with slush and mud, and drew the entire train after them with a jerk that was fearful, as the two engines, which were ten-wheelers, were pulled completely around after being thrown a great distance from the track. The engine of the train had three ribs broken. Fireman A. W. Sproule was instantly killed, being crushed under an engine. The whole train is a total wreck excepting the two last cars, which were left standing on the track. Cars were piled upon cars in hopeless confusion and ruin. A side track was thrown up around the wreck to allow the passenger trains to pass. The amount of freight damaged has not been ascertained. The accident occurred about midnight. The muddy condition of the track was caused by a waterpout.

Deceased was formerly married to a Mr. Glynn.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

[PRESS DISPATCHES.]
Congressional—President Pro Tem of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.

Republican Senators are discussing the possibility of avoiding an extra session of the Senate at the expiration of the present Congress. If Mr. Davis remains in the Chair until the 4th of March an extra session is inevitable, as a President pro tem must be elected to provide a successor to the President in the event of death, resignation or inability. It is believed, however, by many Senators that Judge Davis will resign the Chair a few days before the expiration of the session, if he is assured that his successor can be elected without difficulty and an extra session be averted. A prominent Republican Senator expressed the opinion to-day that a presiding officer would be elected before the 4th of March, although the caucus committee having in charge the order of business had not yet considered the question. The two parties in the Senate are so evenly divided that the vote of Mahone is a vital factor in the choice of the new President pro tem, provided the Democrats were disposed to contest with Republicans for the choice of this office. There are indications that the Democrats will not oppose the election of a Republican presiding officer, particularly if by so doing they can wipe out Mahone's importance in the Republican camp. If it is decided to proceed with the election this session the Mexican treaty will be disposed of before adjournment.

The New Five-Cent Nickel Found Fault With.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.

The new nickel five-cent piece is the subject of much discussion in the Treasury Department. Treasurer Gillfillan carries in his vest pocket one of these coins plated with gold, and its resemblance on one side to the five dollar gold piece is quite striking. The brand on the opposite side is unlike the device on any other coin, and of course should be an effective barrier to its fraudulent use. Were gold coins in general circulation no apprehension would be felt that the new nickel might be successfully passed as a gold piece, but many officials think that people in the country using paper money almost exclusively might be deceived. Mr. Burchard, Director of the Mint, ridicules the idea of any successful counterfeit of the gold piece being made from the new nickel and says that no proposition to suspend coinage of the new piece has been made, and so far as he knows none is contemplated. The absence of any word upon the coin to designate its value is another objection urged against it. If the words "five cents" were placed under the "N," it would, in the judgment of experts, be a great improvement.

A Sacramento Girl Loses Her Diamond Ring.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.

J. M. Wilson, examiner of foreign mails attached to special agent Brackett's staff, yesterday seized a suspicious-looking package from Switzerland addressed to Miss Matilda Guan-guan, Sacramento, Cal., which was found to contain a large religious book having a thick leather binding. About the middle of the inside of one of the covers a diamond ring valued at $150 was found imbedded in a neatly cut space, so that the book when closed excited no suspicion.

The "Heathen Chinese."

CHICAGO, Feb. 13.

Pat Callory, after an amusing disquisition in Court this morning upon the uselessness of the heathen Chinese in American civilization, was fined five dollars and costs for having stood a Chinaman on his head in the street and caused his mouth to assume the shape and size of a saddlebag. Pat is sixty-seven years of age, and though a pigmy in height, he turned a hand-spring in Court at the smallness of his foe.

A Coal-Oil Disaster.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 14.

The city hospital was burned last night at 8 o'clock. The negro cook set a coal-oil lamp on a five-gallon can of coal-oil. The wind blew the blaze into the can, which exploded, setting fire to the cook and her child. The cook is seriously burned and the child burned to a crisp. The patients were rescued and most of the furniture saved.

Governor Morgan's Condition.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.

Ex-Governor Edwin D. Morgan was thought to be dying at an early hour this morning. A change for the worse was announced early yesterday, and throughout the day the sick man gradually grew weaker. A consultation was held last evening, and it was announced the Governor was sinking.

Death of an Ex-Governor.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 13.

Ex-Governor W. E. Smith died at 11:30 P. M. to-night surrounded by his family and friends. He was twice elected Governor of Wisconsin, first in 1877, and re-elected in 1879. He had previously served as State Treasurer and held other offices.

Ex-Governor Edwin D. Morgan of New York died at 8 o'clock this morning.

THE OHIO OVERFLOW.

Inc calculable Damage to Property Along the River Banks—Some Lives Lost and Thousands of People Left Destitute and Homeless—Relief Committees at Work.

[PRESS DISPATCHES.]
LOUISVILLE, Feb. 13.

Business is suspended on account of the floods. The Mayor is liberally feeding the sufferers. The German flood sufferers' fund has been diverted to home use. The disaster is the greatest that ever befell the city. The crisis came at midnight. Nearly a square mile of territory is submerged within the limits of the city. From 5,000 to 8,000 people are driven from their homes. There has been loss of life also, but it is impossible to say how great.

About 11 last night the break came. The cut-off dam, overcome by the terrific weight of water from above, gave way, and instantly, with a loud roar, the flood rushed over. It may be imagined with what force the waters came when they had a fall of from 15 to 18 feet to the low-ground beneath. In less time than it takes to tell, the yellow tide was sweeping in from all points, and the unfortunate people were surprised in their houses. With a mighty rush the water swept from square to square, rapidly rising in the houses, severing many from their foundations.

The roar of the water could not drown the screams of the terrified ones escaping from their doomed dwellings. Skiffs shot about from window to window, and men, women and children waded through the advancing water, each with whatever household goods he could lay his hands on. Bonfires glimmered from the higher ground, which the poor outcasts had gained. Hundreds of people shivered in wet clothing about the smoky fires.

People who were blissfully sleeping in foolish confidence that the embankment would shelter them, were rudely awakened by the flood coming into their houses. Some were even surprised in bed. When the stroke came it was like a stroke of lightning. In the darkness and the cold they fled a watery death, half clothed and carrying nothing with them save their children and their helpless. The panic was indescribable; with the awful roar and with shrieks of terror the stricken people hurried to higher ground, leaving their homes and possessions. Thirty-five squares are under water.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 14.

To-day Mayor Jacobs chartered a steamer and with a corps of men traversed the submerged district, taking off a number of people, and supplying food to those who remained in houses above water. One man was found clinging to a tree. As the men approached he cried out, "Go over to that house. There is a woman and several children over there. I will hold on here till you save them." The men started, but before they reached it the house turned over and was carried away in the rush of waters. The man clinging to the tree was afterward rescued, and declared there were a woman and several children in the house when it turned over, but he did not know their names.

A family named Watkins, living in a hollow near Adams was importuned to move out of the house, but the mother said they did not believe the water would come over there. When the break came the water rushed down on them, filling the lower floor of the house and rendering escape except by skill impossible. The house moved from its foundation and rocked to and fro in the water. In the moment when the danger came, the woman was in the pains of childbirth. In this condition a bed was rigged up in a skiff and the woman removed. The excitement attending removal was such as to throw her into spasms. Her recovery is doubtful. An old colored man, John Adams, living alone, ill with rheumatism, is missing and probably lost. A thousand houses are under water—a vast majority owned by poor people.

The authorities have taken steps to provide food and lodging, and the Board of Trade is raising a fund. Entertainments for the benefit of the sufferers will be held. Families are scattered, and water hides the ghastly results of last night's work. Those anxious ones who demand the names of the dead must wait till floods are gone and miles of sunken lands and hundreds of hidden houses once more come to view. It is folly to attempt to fix the loss of property.

Tim Donohue and a man named Shipper have been arrested and charged with killing Sam Bell. Last night after the water broke over the cut-off dam, these parties got into a boat to go to the rescue. They had been drinking, and the man Bell fell, or was knocked out by the others, and drowned.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 13.
A gleam of hope came to-night when reports showed the river had reached its highest point at 5 P. M., when the marks showed sixty-five feet and one and one-half inches. Though it receded but a half an inch the next four hours, the fact that the worst seemed to be over gave relief to the entire business portion of the city. A slight rain falling to-night gives nervous apprehensions of more disaster to come. More than a thousand business firms and manufactures are prostrated.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 14.
There is additional gloom over the people to-day caused by the fact that the river, after falling to a height of 64 feet 11 inches began to rise under the influence of a steady hard rain. Rain has advanced from the West, thus checking the fall, and extends this morning as far as Pittsburgh. Unless it stops speedily there is no hope of the river receding, while there are the gravest fears that the greatest height reached yesterday will be surpassed. The rain seriously embarrasses the work of the relief committee, but they are doing all they can to distribute food. Soup houses were opened in various parts of the city to feed those able to get to them. Bishop Elder has ordered all Catholic churches thrown open to accommodate the homeless, and sends circulars to the churches to-day asking contributions sent. The Chamber of Commerce and City Council will advance money on the bonds yesterday authorized by the Legislature, so the relief will be prompt. Many cases of extreme destitution are reported by the Relief Board, and in some cases the frantic cries of starving children for food are heartrending. Bakeries not inundated are pressed to their fullest capacity to keep up the supply of bread. There has been fears of a famine on account of the difficulty of receiving live stock, but several thousand rescued distillery cattle can be utilized in case of necessity. People are being moved as fast as possible from Hardtown.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 13.
Within half an hour after the request from Cincinnati for aid, a bill was introduced and passed the Senate, authorizing the city to borrow $100,000, and the bill was sent to the House, where it was promptly passed. It is estimated thirty to forty thousand workmen are out of employment. Dampness in the houses after the flood subsides must bring sickness and suffering.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Feb. 14.
The loss by floods here is not less than a quarter of a million. No lives are lost, but farmers along the Ohio river suffer greatly, many losing their entire crops.

Two Children Burned to Death.

EDGEMONT, Wis., Feb. 14.

The House of Jno. Kennedy, near here, was burned this morning and a daughter, aged 14, and a young son, were burned to death. The fire is thought to have been incendiary.

Chicago's Share of Water.

CHICAGO, Feb. 14.

It began raining at 11 o'clock and a vast quantity of snow in the streets is piled higher than the sidewalks. The gutters are now opened, but there are fears of serious loss from flooding basements if the rain continues.
